Editor of the ADVERTISER:

Please find check enclosed to be credited on my account for your paper having been a reader of either ADVERTISER or ADVERTISER for more than fifty years. I would not know how to keep house without one of them. While not exactly a native of Norway I am very near it, as my father was born in your village just ninety-six years ago today.

My wife and her father, Alvah Hobbs, were both born in Norway and I think my first school year was in the old schoolhouse which stood very near where the Universalist church stands now.

I can recall only two stores at that time, one of them was the old yellow store at the corner near the bridge which was then occupied by my father, and the other was the one kept by the elder Cox, father of T. J., who lived in Dixfield for many years. I think the Cox store was in one part of his house. This was in 1830.

I presume there may be a few living there now who were there then, but the number will be very small. I notice that one who became a resident later on, but has been there forty years or more, is yet able to go fishing, and I hope he may keep it up for many years to come. The first two words of his name is Free-land Hobbs.

I am going to tell you a political story and F. H. may have been there then, but I think not for this was in 1836 when the great landslide from the old Democratic party took place and the Republican party was formed. The three towns of Greenwood, Norway and Oxford made one representation district and it was Greenwood's year to send. My father was nominated by the Republicans and Geo. W. Patch by the Democrats. It was a hot campaign. Maj. Henry W. Millett was the leading Republican worker in Norway and had done his work thoroughly. He had given me some points that he had not published in the newspaper.

The town committees of both parties were to convene at Norway, Saturday evening, before the election and being on the Republican town committee in Greenwood I went down and both committees discussed their prospects for the next Monday.

I remained at the Elm House kept by Otis True over night.

This was the Democratic head quarters and after our meeting the Democrats congregated there, but the Republican party was represented by one, and that one was your humble servant. The battle was soon on and I had to keep back in one corner and do the best I could. They told me that Wirt Virgin had made a bet, Friday night, of $50 that Patch would be defeated and had put up $5 forfeit, the balance to be put up, Saturday night, before 9 o'clock, and the time had gone by and he had not made good.

The facts were that there had been a murder in Stoneham, Friday night, and Virgin the county attorney had been called over there to investigate and could not get home.

The Democrats made so much talk I told them that if they were so anxious to put up $50 they could do so with me. Some slipped around into Hobbs & Tuttle's stable and in a very short time a $50 bill was staring me in the face. All repaired to the parlor and $100 went into Dave Crockett's hands. After this Dave Frank Noyes, later of Lewiston, told me it made no difference whether Patch carried Greenwood or not for the Democrats had majority enough in Norway to overcome anything we could do in Greenwood.

I told Mr. Noyes that he ought to know more about Norway than I did, but I would put up $10 with him that Patch would not carry Norway, and his pocketbook came out very soon and $20 more went into Crockett's hands.

Monday came and Patch was defeated in every town and those Norway Democrats never saw their money any more, and the good old commoner Hamlin, carried the state for Governor by nearly 20,000.

O. C. BOUTWORTH.

The County Fairs.
Commissioner Gilman Discusses Their Management.

A. W. Gilman, state commissioner of agriculture, devotes the entire space of a bulletin just issued to the consideration of the various fairs held in the state of Maine.

Mr. Gilman, in suggestions for the proper management of fairs, very strongly taboos the customary midway, and most emphatically denounces the tub game and all gambling devices. He should be offered in such a way as to encourage better methods of production; for instance, a prize should not be offered for the finest bushel of potatoes, so that a farmer can pick out from his potato bin a bushel of very fine ones, but for the acre of potatoes yielding the most at least expense.

"Prizes should not be awarded on abnormal specimens" he says, "but on the product nearest the true type of that variety. A premium for the cow that makes the best butter during the year, instead of the cow that produces the most butter fat in 24 hours, would be more beneficial, as it would encourage the farmer to keep daily records of the production of their own cows."

"In the arrangement of prizes the children should be considered and special pains taken to interest them in farm life. Prizes for the naming of miscellaneous objects of weeds, for the best collection of weeds, for the best, which would awaken interest and promote education in these lines."

Dr. G. M. Twitchell, former editor of the Maine Farmer, says he has learned that horse trades do not constitute an agricultural fair, and if allowed to occupy too much attention, will bring ruin to any society.

"The one thing needed for fairs," he thinks, "is not large exhibits, but scheduled time in judging. Have a suitable place for awarding prizes. Insist that every judge be prompt in commencing and carrying forward the work, require the utmost publicity in awarding cards or ribbons, and the contests will be as attractive as the races."

"Agricultural fairs should be, yes, must be, educators, and for this to be possible more systematic work and more publicity is demanded in the show ring. In New Brunswick a single judge before the awards on given classes, but before the animals of any given class are removed from the show ring he must publicly announce the reasons which insured the decisions. Of course this leads to discussion, and here is where the expert does the good and serves the adds to the interest in the exhibition. A man who cannot, or will not, publicly explain and defend his awards is not to be trusted to place the ribbons."

LeRoy Straw of Newfield says in the bulletin that is the first duty of the officers of a fair to interest all the people in it, especially to encourage all those who have good stock and scarcely know it.

"Eliza Temple" he goes on, "was driven in the grocery wagon until in the teens, when someone discovered she had trotting qualities. She was put in training and made the phenomenal trotting record of 2:19. This illustrates what may be hidden for the time in many a farmstead's enclosure, and will so remain brought out by expert notice. There are plenty who are looking for good things and willing to pay a long price for them, and the reason why we have a lack of good things is because the people through their lack of contact with the scrub in their marked condition. Experienced men in stock lore, unbiased should be selected to award premiums."

George C. Goodale of Wiscasset, in speaking of the management of fairs jumps with both feet on the midway, and is also in favor of employing men and women to do the judging that is above giving relatives premiums, regardless of merit.

J. L. Lovell of Auburn, secretary of the Maine State Agricultural society, thinks the amount offered in premiums should be less instead of more, as large premiums have a tendency to take the show out of the hands of the average farmer and turn it over to the specialist.

"As many expert judges should be employed," is his idea, "as the finances of the fair will allow, as the best are usually the cheapest. There should be no compulsion in the giving of premiums as the cost in some cases would be burdensome."

"Many of our best farmers severely criticize the horse racing, but it is just as much the duty of an officer of time to look out for the financial part as the educational, as the bills must be paid and the racing is what gives us the work money."

E. P. Mayo of Fairfield, president of the Central Maine Agricultural society, believes there should be a champion class in the live stock divisions and that an animal that wins the blue ribbon this year at any state fair should not be eligible to compete for the same prize in any other state for years to come.

Walter McKean of Fryeburg, secretary of the state agricultural board, and now secretary of the West Oxford Agricultural society, says he would freeze out the professional showman, and, in the main, wipe out the midway. Further than this he would exclude gambling at any cost.

F. W. Leland of Sangerville, secretary of the Piscataquis county agricultural society, says that at the present time it seems almost impossible to even attempt an ideal agricultural fair as was originally intended. "The craze, both with managers and the majority of the people is for amusement and entertainment. The hunt is for the most daring, hair-raising performances. These things may bring large gate receipts, but it takes it all to pay the show, and what is gained? Two hundred dollars for a horse race, and $8 to $5 for the best display of products from the farm or orchard is not stimulating agriculture."

J. P. Witham of New Gloucester, secretary of the New Gloucester and Danville Agricultural society, believe in judging by an expert.

E. A. Woodbridge of Newcastle, secretary of the Lincoln County Agricultural society, is firmly of the opinion that an agricultural fair run by agricultural people, without horse trots and fairs, would be of more benefit to farmers than any other, but doubts if such a fair would pay expenses.

The County Fairs.

R. D. Averill of Springfield, secretary of the North Penobscot Agricultural society, thinks young people ought to be encouraged, and believes boys and girls should add much to a fair, through their handiwork, if proper inducements were offered.

C. M. Moore of Munroe, secretary of the Waldo Penobscot Agricultural society, says premiums should be offered for photographs showing the greatest improvements in farmhouses, grounds, growing crops, roadside and other improvements.

E. A. Webber of Hartland, secretary of the East Somerset Agricultural society, thinks a more just distribution of the state stipend would be to have the books of each association audited by a state officer, and pay the state fairs their stipend on the same basis as that of Mr. Allen of Columbia Falls, secretary of the West Washington agricultural society, says too much money is paid for the races. He says the agricultural fair should be for the farmer and his family, for the grange, for good citizens and not for fairs and sports.

Fred K. Bodwell of Acton, secretary of the Shapleigh and Acton Agricultural society, says big purses for horse racing are ruining many of the fairs in Maine.

C. S. Snowman of Binehill, secretary of the Hancock County Agricultural society, would let in the whole "shooting match" of fairs, horse racing, ball games, brass bands, merry-go-rounds, foot races, bicycle races and everything to pull in the people, but, "Mind you, I would have it all decent."

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child inherits too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the best cure should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable by kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SAMUEL RAY
Mrs. and Mrs. WALTER E. COLE.

WEST PARIS.

Mrs. Ella Libby Ray.
Mrs. Ella Libby Ray passed from this world to the better life beyond, Friday forenoon, July 21. For two years or more past Mrs. Ray has been receiving treatment for cancer with most wonderful courage and hope of recovery almost to the end. Her strong hope and faith in her Savior buoyed her up through many discouragements as she was heard to remark many times during her illness, and though for several weeks she has been unable to be about the house she would lie dressed or sit up every day until the last before she died.

Mrs. Ray was born Feb. 13, 1841, at Falmouth, Poretside. Her father, Rev. Phineas Libby, and family one time lived at North Paris, and it was there she became acquainted and was married to Samuel Ray, Feb. 13, 1870, since which they have lived for the greater part in and near West Paris. Four children have been born to them, three of whom, two boys and one girl, died in infancy. One only, Rose, who is the wife of Walter E. Cole, survives to mourn the loss of a mother.

Thirteen years ago last, February 8, Mrs. Ray celebrated their silver wedding in West Paris.

Mrs. Ray was brought up under Methodist principles but while here as long as her health permitted she attended the Free Baptist church, but was not a member of any church.

The community has lost a kind neighbor and friend, who was ever ready to lend a hand in sickness or trouble. She was a faithful member of Onward Re-bekah Lodge, No. 29, of West Paris. The funeral was held at the Free Baptist church, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. D. E. Nelson officiating, attended by the I. O. O. F. and Rebekahs in a body. The Rebekah service was used at the close of the exercises. The church was full of sympathetic friends and neighbors.

The church was prettily decorated with potted plants. The pulpit was draped with pink and green over white with pond lilies. All the flower decorations were in pink and green effect. One pillow with Sister, and one piece—The Rebekahs.

A pillow of pines and baby's breath—Mrs. Jerry Cole and Miss Brown. A green and white pillow—Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Barton.

24 good lilies—H. D. Fife, E. E. Tuell and Mrs. Fannie Mayhew. A cross and wreath—relatives. Two bouquets of sweet peas, and other bouquets—Friends and neighbors.

Besides a husband and daughter, who mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother, she leaves three sisters and three brothers, Mrs. Columbus Richardson of Norway, Mrs. John Brigham of Oxford, A. H. Libby, Lawrence, Mass., and Frank R. Libby of Haverhill, Mass., who were here to attend the funeral. The other two who could not be present are Mrs. Fannie Crosswell, Everett, Mass. and Fred H. Libby, Haverhill, Mass.

Of the other relatives who were present were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ray and daughter, Nellie Ray and Mrs. Ida Ray of North Waterford, Mrs. Mabel Greeley West Paris, and brother, Otis Rawson of Oxford, Mrs. Mary Greeley of West Paris, Mrs. Norton of Bridgton and Mrs. Mason Kilgore of Norway.

H. G. Brown is reshingling his house. The wife of Dr. Leslie of Andover has been visiting at Dr. Wheeler's.

Mrs. Alda S. Bryant of Errol is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. H. Emery and other friends.

Mrs. Fred Lurvey and son Harold of Bryant's Pond visited here one day recently.

Mrs. H. G. Brown visited Mrs. Geo. D. Robertson and Mrs. Nellie Goff, both at South Paris, last week.

Mrs. Anna C. Young has been several weeks visiting her son, Rev. Chas. H. Young of Lovell, Me.

Mrs. Godfrey and two children from Wayne, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. I. F. Emmons, returned home, Monday.

Death of an Aged Lady.

Harrison Centennial.
Since the bills were printed a new and attractive feature has been added to the program. G. C. Simpson from the Boston Institute of Technology, who is vacationing at the Williston cottage, has kindly interested himself to arrange an athletic meet. About 100 young men from six different camps are expected to participate in the games—Camp Katahdin of Sweden, Camp Kings of Harrison, Long Lake Lodge of North Bridgton, Camp Song of Naples, Camp Wildmere of Parsonsfield and Camp Oxford.

The games will occur at 2 p. m. at the corner near the depot. The events will be as follows:—Canoe race 440 yds., boat race 440 yds., hurly-scurly races, swimming match 50 yds., tub races, 3-legged race, wheelbarrow race, broad jump, shot put, low hurdles. A game of water polo and also of volleyball in which Katahdin challenges other camps. An 8-oared boat race in which Kineo challenges and for which there are four entries, and a military relay race for all camps.

It makes a dandy cellar bottom and on our inspection Mrs. Fuller was polishing the nail heads in the cellar stairs. That cellar would make an excellent living room these hot days. A cement flooring is to be put in the woodshed.

Morrill M. Fuller, esq., fire inspector of Gorham Normal school, of buildings is the better title, puts wood ashes at his residence into a metal tank. He says every one should do this. Barrels or boxes are not a safe receptacle. That is what he says and he claims to know. If you doubt this ask him about it. He has had experience and perhaps prefers to explain personally than to have us print it.

Nan, the Mascotte.

The Home Talent Show Exceptionally Well Patronized Receives Generous Patronage Both Nights.

About four hundred people witnessed the presentation of Nan, the Mascotte, each of the two evenings last week. Thursday's performance was for the benefit of the First Universalist society, Friday evening the profits went to the players, the expenses being divided between the two nights.

The play is a very heavy one for an amateur cast of characters to tackle and that it was successful is due to a very careful training and innumerable rehearsals. While some changes might possibly have been advantageously made in the assignment of parts, on the whole the cast was well arranged.

The story of the play is Caleb Baldwin (Harry Newcomb) has a home in the country. Mrs. Baldwin (Marguerite Finney) desires to move to the city having social aspirations and a high toned daughter, Nan (Mrs. H. H. Fife), introduced in the first scene are Jimsey (Ralph Trask) a weak minded individual, who is extremely funny; Deacon Smartwedge (C. F. Ridlon), who is sweet on Widdie Jehonnette (Mrs. C. A. Akers), giving rise to several amusing situations, including a seasaw.

Arthur Sherwood (Fred Moore) is fond of Nan, who reciprocates. Ben Flood (E. A. Goudy), a former suitor of Mrs. Baldwin, returns as a tramp and calling on Mrs. B. is discovered by Baldwin and sent away. Returning he is assaulted by Baldwin, whom he knocks down and leaves for dead.

In the second act Mrs. Van Spread (Mrs. M. L. Kimball) who desires an advantageous match for her son Eddie (Ralph I. Trask) gives a party which is attended by Baldwin, who is now a "plunger" in the city, and his family, which is also attended by lawyer Fox (E. J. McCarthy) and Dr. Windfall (E. Fife), who have considerable play. Eddie, who is an anglo-mania, is sweet on Nan, who has no fancy for him but prefers her old friend Arthur. Baldwin is led into financial entanglements through the influence of a broker, Phineas Grabber, whom Mrs. Baldwin discovers to be Ben Flood, making the climax of the second act.

The third act was at Baldwin's city home. Mrs. Baldwin urges Nan to accept Eddie, she refusing to do so. Mrs. Van Spread calls. The Baldwins are visited by Dea. Smartwedge, who appears as a Rube of the most pronounced type. Eddie Van Spread appears and there is a play between him and the Deacon. Interview between Fox and Dr. Windfall regarding the mystery of the closed door. Grabber appears and announcing that he has the control of stock heavily invested in by Baldwin and has the latter in his power he demands the hand of Nan, which demand is refused.

Enter Eddie as a Tammany Indian, who is taking part in a celebration in honor of Columbus. He proposes to Nan, who rejects him. Perplexed by business affairs Baldwin, who is in the place of his father, enters the room of the closed door. Nan appears and bursts open the door, grasping the vial of poison Baldwin is about taking. Baldwin falls.

Act four is Baldwin's former home. Eddie Van Spread appears as a city sportsman and tells Nan of his terrible dissipation. He proposes, is rejected and leaves after accidentally shooting off the crown of his hat. The latter appears and runs in search of Widdie Jehonnette, rescuing her from a sheep but is himself butted into a pond. They reenter, also Jimsey, who comes to "bother."

Epilogue is read telling of the escape of Ben Flood from prison, and the success as a lawyer of Arthur Sherwood. Ben Flood appears and is about to kill Mrs. Baldwin, who is rescued by Nan. Flood being arrested by Baldwin and an officer, Baldwin tells the story of the closed door and of his affliction caused and cured by a blow on the head. Sherwood appears and there is a pretty scene with Nan, and the closing of the play.

The action of the play went forward continuously. The actors had their lines well and entered into the actual spirit of the play. Each one filled his part excellently, the vein of humor being well developed. Several local hits were scored, mostly at the ball team and our neighboring town's darkness, and they were fitting.

A dance was held Friday evening after the show. About 40 couples were on the grand march and about two hours were spent in this way very pleasantly.

Railroad Town Meeting.

One Dissenting Vote.

The town of Norway voted at the special meeting, Thursday afternoon, to allow the Norway & Western Railroad to pass through and adjacent to the highways and town ways. The vote was practically unanimous. About 100 voters were present.

At 2 o'clock promptly town clerk Curtis called the meeting to order, and called for ballots for the moderator. A. S. Kimball was unanimously chosen to this office and took charge of the meeting.

Proceeding to article 2 of the warrant a letter was read from Manager W. G. Rand of the Norway & Western Railroad explaining the changes in location at mill pond, to avoid going through the mill yard and corn shop yard, and requiring a 400-foot bridge in place of one half as long, entailing additional expense, also the changes at Norway Lake village to avoid, passing through the schoolhouse grove, also making additional expense in cuts and fill. The letter gave the reason for the location to the south of the lake road, and offered to transport highway material for the town needed to repair any road over which the railroad runs free of expense. A motion was made and seconded that the railroad be granted leave as petitioned for. A ballot was taken, resulting 97 in favor, 1 opposed.

By its vote the inhabitants of Norway gave their right of way through Pearl street from the Grand Trunk depot, also the right to pass adjacent to the highway from the foot house on the Norway Lake road to Wood's turn so-called. The location of the railroad is on the bank or southerly side of the highway. The proposed railroad passes through the field in the rear of the J. F. Bradbury store at the Lake and through the land of the Partridge Bros. or Charles W. Partridge's land. The bog or arm of the lake to be bridged is owned by David Flood, Greene and others. This route keeps it out of the street at the Lake and away from the schoolhouse grove.

We give the letter referred to above in full.

Norway, Maine, July 20th, 1905. GENTLEMEN:—In presenting to the Town of Norway this petition for a location, we would call your attention to the numerous places along the proposed line where we have considerable expense to the Railroad Company arranged our line so as to comply with the expressed wishes of the residents of the communities through which we pass.

First:—In locating our line so as to comply with these requests, we will be obliged to construct a bridge 400 feet long, instead of one 200 feet long, to cross the mill pond in Norway. This is all of the cost of the construction of the bridge, but by such changes and expenditures we avoid the mill yard, where many men and teams are constantly employed, and the corn shop and husking shed, which at certain seasons is a business nuisance to the place, and the people of your town find employment.

We then continue to Norway Lake village, where many roads cross or join the main road. Here there is a pond and a bog, and the ground around which was recently purchased by the school. It would be barbarous to ignore the petition for the preservation of these grounds signed by the mothers and children of Norway Lake, and for the most important to us, to comply with this request we have resurveyed our lines here making a long detour and encountering in the new route an expensive cut and a construction of many feet of bridge at the bog which will be expensive to us.

To make it possible for us to accomplish this and construct our line so as not to destroy or injure the utility and beauty of these places, we are obliged to build our lines on the southerly or hill side of the main Norway highway. It will be absolutely impossible for us to avoid these places and the schoolhouse lands if we do not build as we have laid out.

The matter of cost of maintenance and material for county road repair has been brought to our attention by members of your board and regarding same will say: First:—If the town of Norway attempts to maintain a wagon road on the hill side of the main Norway highway, which is a much different proposition from a railroad, with our experience and knowledge of engineering and road building it would seem to be the most expensive proposition that the town of Norway has ever undertaken in that line.

Second:—Most of you know that the soil material along this road is not the best for road construction, though you may still obtain what you require for soil cover in gravel beneath our tracks. We use the hill side or South side of your road for our route. We will agree to haul for your town all material needed for road repairs along our route, and we will agree to any point on our lines, free of cost to the town of Norway. This proposition is in consideration of your granting to us the right of way as requested in our petition and as shown on our map attached.

Trusting that the Town will look at this matter in the same light in which we have presented it, I remain, Truly yours, W. G. RAND, for the Company.

The third article was in relation to discontinuing the private right of way of Fred S. Frost over land of Mason F. Frost, accepted by the town at the annual meeting, at which time the matter was thoroughly discussed. Since that time an appeal was made to the County Commissioner. Both parties have agreed to accept the old right of way, which has been the case since the new road is to be discontinued. The action of the town will settle the matter. The appeal being unnecessary will be withdrawn. Adjourned, after a 20 minute session.

Alleged Kidnapping.

Albertus Bean of Milton Plantation, was up before Judge G. W. Johnson of the local municipal court, Friday morning, July 21, on the charge of having kidnapped Charles Abbott, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Ada L. Abbott of Milton. Mr. Bean is the son-in-law of Mrs. Abbott and lives between 30 and 40 rods from her home, having been married about a year.

The story which Bean told in court and which was substantially the same as was learned at Milton by Deputy Sheriff G. H. Cobb, was that he had been told that the boy walked down the road to meet him as he was returning from delivering a load of cream, and asked for a ride. His request was granted and he took the boy home, and he spent the night with Mrs. Bean. The judge ordered the respondent discharged.

One Dollar Saved Represents Ten Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars' outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. For sale by Noyes Drug Store, Norway, Shurtliff's, South and West Paris.

BRYANT'S POND.

Oxford vs. Bryant's Pond. On Saturday afternoon at Oxford, the Bryant's Pond team won the first game of the season from Oxford. The game was fast and furious from start to finish and was marked with brilliant plays on both sides. The game was a pitchers' battle with odds slightly in Carrier's favor, and although the support of Bryant's Pond's twirler was not up to the standard it was easily offset by some sharp fielding which cut off many base hits.

From the spectators point of view it was easily "the game of the season." For Oxford the fielding was sharp and sure and many "sure hits" were out off by slick catches and sharp throws. Features were contributed by J. Farnum and Cole for Bryant's Pond, while the throw of H. Billings in the eighth inning, nailing Nelson at the plate, was a fast piece of work. Oxford lost a chance to tie up the game in the ninth, when with one down, Nelson smashed out a clean, three base hit and then ran half way down on a fly to right by Bowie, only to have to go back and watch Davis go down on strikes. Pike at first, and Adams folded their positions in line shape while Wilson and Foss both came in for their share of glory.

Summary—Earned run, Bryant's Pond. Two-base hit, F. Farnum. Three-base hit, Nelson. Struck out by Carrier, 8. Left on bases, Bryant's Pond 2; Oxford 8. Passed ball, Beard. First base on errors, Oxford 5; Bryant's Pond 2. Time, 1 hour, 30 minutes. Umpire, Coulton.

Bryant's Pond scored in the second inning. F. Farnum hit for a double and scored on Cole's single over second.

Carrier and Adams did some excellent pitching and had good control throughout the game, only allowing four hits each.

Three times did Oxford have men at bat but were not allowed to go home. Oxford tried hard to score and in the sixth Nelson was thrown out at the plate trying to score from second on Davis' hit over second.

But for bad coaching Oxford could have scored the second inning. With Nelson on third, Capt. Bowie died to center and instead of Nelson holding his base he was half way between third and home and of course had to return to third after the fly had been caught.

Much credit is due Thomas Coulton for the splendid work he did in amping his first game of base ball.

This is the tenth victory for Bryant's Pond, with only one game lost. These two teams meet again at Bryant's Pond, Saturday, July 29, and a record crowd is looked for. The game will be called at 1:30 sharp to enable patrons to get the afternoon train in both directions, after the game.
